

Bob has always been a modest man, avoiding the limelight and the accolades he so richly deserves. That is why I chose to honor him now for a lifetime of service, particularly those who might otherwise get lost in the federal bureaucracy.

Bob's simple philosophy includes "taking it one day at a time," and that is what he plans to do. Bob's mother passed away in 2001 and since then he has been telling his father that if he waited until he retired they would spend many days fishing the streams of his youth in his beloved San Luis Valley. Bob, good luck to you and Martin, may the fish always bite and may the sun always be at your back, as you "take it one day at a time."

Enjoy your retirement.

HONORING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF STEF PARAMOURE, CANYON
MIDDLE SCHOOL TEACHER OF THE YEAR

HON. HENRY CUELLAR

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 26, 2005

Mr. CUELLAR. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize Stef Paramoure, Canyon Middle School Teacher of the Year.

Stef Paramoure received her Bachelor's degree in Multidisciplinary Studies from Texas Lutheran University in Seguin Texas. She is a bright young star in the Comal Independent School District, having taught for only three years before receiving the prestigious Teacher of the Year award.

Working as a seventh grade science teacher has its challenges, but Stef Paramoure is ready to embrace each new day with optimism and enthusiasm. Putting the students first, she works hard to give them the quality of education that they deserve.

She believes strongly in taking a practical approach to learning science. Ms. Paramoure strives to connect the personal lives and experiences of her students to the subject that she is teaching. Though concentrating on a personalized approach, she is able to make science applicable, useful, and understandable to her students.

I am proud to have this opportunity to recognize the skill and accomplishments of one of Comal Independent School District's newest stars. Her recognition as Teacher of the Year is an excellent start to an already distinguished career.

IN MEMORY OF V.G. STRONG

HON. RALPH M. HALL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 26, 2005

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an outstanding citizen of the Fourth District of Texas, Vilo Glen (V.G.) Strong of Mt. Pleasant, who passed away recently after living 92 wonderful, happy years. V.G. was an active and beloved member of his community and will be missed by all those who knew him.

Born in Nebraska to Walter and Mary Schneider Strong, V.G. received his Bachelor of Science degree at Colorado College and taught high school in Eckley, CO. After marrying Doris Wells in 1938, he returned to college to receive his Masters degree in 1941. During World War II he was a civilian chemist with the War Department in Pine Bluff, AR, and moved to Mt. Pleasant, TX, in the late 1940s to work for the Cotton Belt Railroad. When offered a promotion with the Cotton Belt in another state, V.G. turned down the opportunity and found a new career as a chemical engineer at Lone Star Steel, where he worked twenty years before retiring.

V.G. and his wife of 66 years, Doris, have been active members of the Mt. Pleasant First Presbyterian Church for over 57 years. V.G. served as a deacon and an elder. He was also active in the Lions Club for over 50 years.

V.G. and Doris developed a passion for traveling after his retirement, visiting more than sixty countries and every continent except Antarctica. Their latest adventure was to Scotland and the Shetland Islands with their grandson and his wife just last August. Also in retirement, V.G. turned a hobby into a part-time job. His love for restoring antique lamps resulted in restoring or converting lamps for numerous East Texas antique dealers and customers.

Most importantly, V.G. had a great love for his family—his wife Doris, sons Jerry and Paul, and five grandchildren. One of his grandchildren, Katie Strong, who is director of the Congressional and Public Affairs Division of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce here in Washington, shared with me her admiration for her grandfather. Katie noted that V.G. was a man of his word who helped so many in need—social outcasts, young people who needed encouragement, young adults who needed guidance and direction.

"While his life was not extravagant, it was good, it was full, and most importantly, it was honest. We could all try to be a little more like the man his grandchildren called Pop-Pop," Katie wrote.

Mr. Speaker, I am honored to recognize this respected and beloved citizen of the Fourth District of Texas and ask my colleagues to join me in paying our last respects to Vilo Glen Strong. May the memory of his wonderful life and his legacy of kindness continue to bring comfort to his family and friends.

TAIWAN OPPOSITION LEADER
ARRIVES IN CHINA

HON. DAN BURTON

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, April 26, 2005

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, a historic event occurred today in the history of Taiwan-Chinese relations, the Leader of Taiwan's Nationalist Party arrived in China for the first meeting between the party of Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists since the Chinese Civil War "ended" nearly six decades ago.

I know that relations across the Taiwan Straits have been much on the minds of many members of Congress in recent months, especially after the Chinese passed the Taiwanese Anti-Secession Law. Although not an official Taiwanese Government visit, the eight-day trip by Lien Chan does represent an opportunity to test the waters, and put the issue of peaceful co-existence between these two historic antagonists back into the realm of public debate.

Analysts and China-watchers disagreed on whether Lien's trip can help ease Taiwan-China tensions. Some have argued that Chen is simply being used by Communist officials to foster a schism in Taiwanese society. Others, such as Robert L. Downen, a former U.S. State Department Policy Advisor for East Asia during the Reagan administration believe that the Lien Chan can win Beijing's trust and cooperation. Mr. Downen has written an interesting Op-Ed piece supporting his position that is worth considering, and I would like to have the text of Mr. Downen's Op-Ed placed into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD following my statement.

I do not know which side of this debate is right, and I suspect that it will ultimately be left to the judgment of history to decide whether this trip accomplished anything. Nevertheless, a security crisis over Taiwan is something we all must work to avert and perhaps Lien Chen's visit can in some small way persuade the Chinese Government to reconsider their recent actions and return to the "Good Neighbor" policy that has worked so effectively for so long. The quest for peace is worth that small gamble.

BACK ON TRACK

(By Robert L. Downen)

Nearly overlooked in a recent series of pessimistic news stories about rising tensions across the Taiwan Strait is a small but important initiative. Direct, though unofficial talks between senior statesmen of China and Taiwan are about to occur after an interruption of several years. Cross-Strait talks offer a glimmer of hope in an otherwise stormy policy arena. There simply has been too long a delay in direct contact between antagonists in such a sensitive forum as this one. Face to face communication is overdue.

The set of policy actors on both sides has changed substantially since talks last occurred in the 1990s, and post-9/11 global security and political factors form a different environment. The political stalemate between the Chinese mainland and the island of Taiwan is an anachronistic relic of the Cold War demanding attention, and only direct talks will bring about an accommodation. The present leadership in Taipei seems unable to break the icy standoff, and so the opposition Nationalist Party Chairman Lien Chan a former vice president and premier of Taiwan but now a private citizen has accepted an invitation to visit China in April and will meet there with its President Hu Jintao. Lien calls his mission "a trip for peace."

After more than a half-century of deep mistrust between Beijing and Taipei, further estrangement only aggravates the situation politically, militarily, and economically. Direct talks between semi-official representatives of the two sides in the early 1990s did lead to a few practical agreements on handling postal exchanges, fishing disputes, and airline hijackings, as well as a promising agreement to disagree over the meaning of "one China." But that dialogue eventually broke down over statements by public officials and missile tests conducted by China in the Taiwan vicinity. The lapse of time since then has produced additional misunderstandings and stagnation. New governments in both Beijing and Taipei have missed opportunities for contact and occasionally provoked the situation by careless public remarks and behaviors in recent years.

In diplomacy, as in private business, if you are not moving forward you are effectively moving backwards. Inaction is equivalent to regression. Mistrust and lack of confidence on both sides has produced accusations and counter-accusations, fueling arms build-ups
